

WIRELESS TO THE COAST PROPOSED

A definite proposal for a system of wireless communication between Honolulu and the Coast is made in the following letter received by the Advertiser. It is by the Chief Electrician of the "Big Four Fleet" which was here a few weeks ago which made a record of communicating 1700 miles during its recent voyage from Honolulu to San Francisco. The proposition is thus:

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 11.—Editor Advertiser: The success attained by the "Big Four" in communicating 1700 miles during their recent trip from Honolulu to San Francisco makes it seem plausible, and possible, that wireless communication between Honolulu and some point in the States, will soon be accomplished. Why don't some enterprising business man or men in Honolulu form a company and build two stations one on the Coast and one near Honolulu and begin. I am of the opinion that the equipment would not cost more than $2000 for the two stations. Of course, the two stations and masts would be another figure but not much. A letter to the International Telegraph Construction Company of New York would bring an early estimate for two "daylight" stations for 2500 miles work. I am out of the service in five months and would like to return to Honolulu to live. For any advice outside of an estimate of equipment I am always willing to give it straight. I consider myself an authority on long distance work and if anyone will furnish the equipment, I know I'll be able to communicate all right.

Chief Elec. U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

REPORTED HOLDUP
ON KALIHI ROAD

Walking past the Paea cemetery after dark last night, on his way home from a warm discussion of the chances of Honolulu against the Fisher bunch, Solomon Palau felt the fingers of an unseen hand, clutching at his throat. He pulled up so suddenly on the reverse that he toppled over backwards among the glue bushes, but he retained his presence of mind enough to pull a gun and fire a couple of shots heavenward. Heavy footsteps of his retreating foe were heard. Then Palau beat a masterly retreat for his own home, beside Frank Harvey's on Kalihi road. He was so excited at his narrow escape from being help up that he could not explain to his folks what had happened and the reason why he kept flourishing his gun. Thinking he had suddenly graduated into the pupule class his relatives disarmed him and gradually got him into a position where he could relate his adventure. Then, properly escorted, he went to the police with his tale. It may have been a holdup who had him by the neck and it may have been a glue bush branch which threw him on his back. He thinks it was a bad Porto Rican after his money.

who have used it, or are now using it, we have never heard of any one who has been disappointed in it. No claims are made for it except those which are amply justified by experience. In commending it to the afflicted we simply point to its record. It has done great things, and it is certain to continue the excellent work. There is—we may honestly affirm—no medicine which can be used with greater and more reasonable faith and confidence. It nourishes and keeps up the strength during those periods when the appetite fails and food cannot be digested. To guard against imitations this "trade mark" is put on every bottle of "Wampole's Preparation," and without it none is genuine. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Taken before meals it creates an appetite, aids digestion, renews vital power, drives out disease germs, makes the blood rich, red and full of constructive elements, and gives back to the pleasures and labors of the world many who had abandoned hope. Doctor S. H. McCoy, of Canada, says: "I testify with pleasure to its unlimited usefulness as a tissue builder." Its curative powers can always be relied upon. It makes a new era in medicine, and is beneficial from the first dose. "You can trust it as the Ivy does the Oak." One bottle convinces. Avoid all unreliable imitations. PINKHAM AND MAY PARALYZE

FOR BETTER PAY

(From Saturday's Advertiser.)

President Pinkham stated at the meeting between himself and the Committee of Ten yesterday that under no conditions would he allow Wallach a key for himself to the outside door of the hospital where Wallach's tests are to be made. He also stated that Wallach would not be allowed to set foot on Kalaupapa. He is willing that Wallach should leave the hospital, but only at the hours specified by him.

Wallach stated last night, also to Pinkham yesterday afternoon, that he would insist on having a key of his own and the privilege of leaving the hospital at what hours he wished and would also insist on going to Kalaupapa to select his patients.

Wallach also insisted on these two points at his meeting with the committee on Thursday night, an insistence which so enraged some of the members that Kuhio and Chillingworth refused to stay and Lan threatened bodily injury to the healer.

President Pinkham of the Board of Health had a formal notification in typewriting ready to present to the Committee of Ten when that body met him by appointment at his office yesterday afternoon. The document is printed below.

It was a somewhat informal meeting. Senator John C. Lane as chairman was spokesman for the committee.

On its part the committee had a formal acceptance of the Board of Health's plan for allowing J. Lor Wallach to treat twelve lepers ready, also in typewriting, but the document was not handed to President Pinkham until the committee was leaving after the meeting.

For another thing, the letter of acceptance was devoid of any signature.

Had this document, which is also printed herewith, been read either to or by Mr. Pinkham while the meeting was in session something would have dropped.

On reading it when the committee had been gone ten minutes, Mr. Pinkham, referring to its proposal that Wallach and not more than three of the Committee of Ten should participate in the selection of the twelve patients, dictated with much emphasis to the Advertiser reporter, this reply to the new condition in question:

NO MONKEY BUSINESS.

"After the report of these five physicians mentioned in condition No. 6 of the agreement, Wallach can see each patient and object to him if he chooses.

"But these physicians are to be the final judges whether the patient is cured or not. Hence they must be consulted and allowed to select the patients without any regard to Wallach. They must be judges at the beginning as well as the ending.

"I will have no more monkey business from Wallach."

THEIR OWN FAULT.

Some of the committeemen voiced Wallach's already reported complaint of delay in the experiment. They said they telegraphed Wallach to return to town from his tour of the other islands. He had come in response to their summons, causing him to lose so much time in waiting until the Board of Health was ready.

Mr. Pinkham told them in reply that they were to blame themselves for this inconvenience to Wallach. It would have cost any of them only ten cents in carfare to come to the president's office and ascertain what the arrangements were to be. Instead of taking this course, he informed them, they had acted on unfounded rumors published along with certain information that had leaked out.

ALL CONDITIONS ACCEPTED.

Chairman Lane, after the meeting, stated outside that the Committee of Ten had accepted all of the conditions in the agreement between the Board of Health and the Committee of Seven representing the 527 petitioners at the Settlement.

At the meeting the committee tendered its thanks to the Board of Health for granting the petition of the people at the Settlement.

THE FUNDS ADJUSTED.

There is nothing else so important in President Pinkham's letter of notification as his showing how he proposes to apportion the Kalihi receiving station appropriation so that the construction of the new building may proceed without delay. The expedient proposed is a modification of the plans to bring the cost of the structures within the appropriation and leave enough over for the maintenance of the inmates during Wallach's experiment. Mr. Pinkham's letter is as follows:

LETTER OF NOTIFICATION.

Honolulu, Nov. 22, 1907.

John C. Lane, Esq., and Committee of Thirty-three men of the engineer department of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation company are threatening to tie up all the fourteen vessels of the fleet now in operation unless the directors of the company agree to a schedule of pay which the engineers have presented and which they claim is just.

The company is holding off and the engineers are one by one sending in their resignations to take effect on different dates. Some make the statement that they are resigning on account of wages and others merely declare in their letters that they will cease to be in the employ of the company on a certain date, not stating the reason for quitting.

The company is in a very serious predicament, for there are no men here to take the places of those who leave and there is no immediate way of securing men.

Some weeks ago, when President J. A. Kennedy left for the mainland and for a visit to Scotland, it was passed around the waterfront as more or less of a joke that he was going to bring back a lot of Scotch engineers. While there was more fun than fact in the statement it may have been the engineers way of suggesting that it was up to the company to do something of the kind, although Scotch engineers could not serve here unless they had United States licenses.

If unlicensed men could be employed the Inter-Island company would have but little difficulty in securing men, but the Federal law controls and engineers must be licensed. United States Inspectors of Halls and Boilers Walton and Heeney arrived here yesterday in the Alameda and they can conduct examinations at proper times.

A month or so ago a committee of the Marine Engineers' Benefit Association waited on the directors of the Inter-Island company and presented a schedule for an increase in pay all along the line. The directors in meeting conceded what the company's representatives claim was a substantial advance in pay and the committee is said to have expressed itself at the time as satisfied, although the Association was not satisfied and so declared.

The situation at present is decidedly grave for the company, for unless they give in to the demands of the engineers or provide men to take their places the fleet of fourteen boats will lie idle and there will be no passenger or freight transportation between the islands, a state of affairs which would affect the sugar industry, the tourist business, the local produce trade and many other important interests.

The company has kept the matter very quiet in hopes of settling it soon, but the engineers demand that their schedule be put into force or they quit. They have not threatened to go out on strike on any certain date, nor have they said that they would go out in a body, in so many words, but they have declared that they will not continue to work for the present pay and, as above noted, they are sending in their resignations and the dates for these resignations to take effect are close, too close for comfort.

On the steamers Kinan, Claudine, Mauna Loa, Maui and Helene there are three engineers, each of the other nine boats of the fleet in operation carries two engineers. These men are at present paid according to their rank and the tonnage of the vessel upon which they are employed.

The company claims that in some cases their engineers are paid wages twenty per centum higher than men in similar positions in Coast steamships are being paid. It is also contended that during the last six years wages have been advanced several times. The company insists that it is at present not in a position to afford to pay the salaries demanded by the engineers.

As far as is known employees of the company in other departments are not concerned in the demand which is the action of the Marine Engineers' Benefit Association.

The spectacle of the steamers Kinan, Claudine, Maui, Helene, Mauna Loa, W. G. Hall, Iwalani, Ke Au Hou, Noeau, Mikahala and the rest of the Inter-Island boats lying idle alongside the wharves, while the islands are cut off from each other is likely to be presented any day unless a speedy solution is reached. At present, however, both company and engineers refuse to concede anything.

Ten, Honolulu, T. H.

Sir: I hereby officially notify you that the Board of Health has granted the petition of the 527 petitioners, lepers, residing at the Molokai Settlement, under the conditions named by said 527 petitioners, and I hand you herewith a certified copy of both petition and conditions.

There are but two paragraphs in the conditions that need explanation.

Paragraph Second. "All transactions through the outer gate shall be at such hours as the Board of Health shall designate."

These hours will be designated covering an adequate number of intervals of convenient length beginning at a proper hour in the morning and ending at a proper hour in the evening.

J. Lor Wallach will be at liberty to go and come at these various periods as he may choose, but he will be required to sign a record going and coming.

The employees, under Wallach's sole control, will be allowed to depart and enter within the appointed hours as J. Lor Wallach may direct in writing. These employees will be required to sign the record coming and going.

All dealers selected by Wallach, and there will be no others, will be notified of the designated hours and will be required to make their deliveries within those hours to Wallach or his authorized employees, and both the person delivering and the person receiving will be required to sign the record.

Paragraph Sixteenth. This paragraph does not mean that J. Lor Wallach is to be under restraint or confinement in the compound, but that in order to carry out his sole responsibility he must be in attendance at reasonable hours each day and night, hence suitable accommodations and provisions of a high standard of comfort and subsistence for J. Lor Wallach and his employees will be provided.

After the lower House of the Legislature of 1905 had the President of the Board before it for an exhaustive examination they ascertained that Dr. Milton Rice of Hilo had had every attention, care, assistance and sympathetic encouragement the most exacting could demand, but the President held him to the treatment of the number of lepers he had requested, four, and also to the stipulations.

In the end he proved himself wholly unable to demonstrate the cures he claimed to be able to accomplish and left the country, practically deserting his patients.

When J. Lor Wallach enters the buildings and compound provided for him, his employees and patients, he will receive identically the same unstinted support and encouragement received by Dr. Milton Rice.

This support and encouragement will be granted solely for the benefit of the twelve stipulated lepers on which this experiment is to be tried.

If Mr. Wallach makes good his success will be properly recognized.

I desire to call your attention to the four first paragraphs of the petition of the 527 Molokai Settlement petitioners. The principles of law and duty there laid down will be enforced.

The combined tenders for the "Kalihi Hospital and Improvements" ranged from $17,123 down to $3500. The appropriation was for $3600 only.

I shall recommend the Board of Health to assign the work to appropriations as follows:

Kalihi Hospital and Improvements . . . $6,776

Care of lepers . . . 1,824

From time to time the President of the Board, unless otherwise ordered, will, if advisable, unofficially request the Committee of Ten to meet him for conference.

As the matter has been passed up to the executive of the Board he will confine himself strictly to the terms of the conditions named by the 527 petitioners of the Molokai Settlement.

As a sincere friend of the Hawaiians and the lepers on Molokai, at the receiving station and those secretly absenting themselves from segregation, I urge, with all the earnestness I possess, every party to jointly take leprosy out of politics.

For the first time you are acting jointly as a body and have a joint representative committee.

I believe such politics is dangerous ground and that you nor I can foresee the consequences.

Respectfully,

L. E. PINKHAM,

President, Board of Health.

Following is the Committee of Ten's unsigned letter of acceptance, the absence of signatures quite likely being to mask the dissension at the committee meeting Thursday night, as reported in yesterday's Advertiser:

COMMITTEE'S CONSENT.

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 22, 1907.
L. E. Pinkham, Esq., President of the Board of Health.

Dear Sir: We, the Committee of Ten who have had charge of J. Lor Wallach and those who have been supporting his petition to the Board of Health, beg leave to report in behalf of Mr. Wallach, and with his consent, that the offer made by the Board of Health to allow Mr. Wallach to treat certain inmates of the Settlement under eighteen (18) conditions named in connection with said consent is hereby agreed to, and we hereby notify the Board of Health that Mr. Wallach is ready to proceed forthwith to make a full and complete test of his treatment; and we assuming that a fair interpretation of condition sixteen does not mean that Mr. Wallach is to be personally detained for the year in which this experiment is to be made in the compound to be prepared for the patients in question, but that he will be allowed at reasonable times to

READY FOR TODAY
GOOD THUS FAR

(From Saturday's Advertiser.)

Mique Fisher's team of All Stars is on Hawaiian soil and the freedom of the city has been extended to them. Headed by Barney Joy they marched off the Alameda yesterday morning and were greeted enthusiastically by several hundreds of Honolulu's ball fans, male and female, assembled at the Oceanic dock to make sure that the boys whose fame has been ringing in the sporting columns of the newspapers and whose features have become familiar to all the readers of the Sunday supplements, had really come. And they were there, Joy and Devereaux and Dashwood and Burns and all the rest of them, there in all their glory, a fine looking lot of athletes, apparently none the worse for the sea trip.

Joy was the happiest man on the ship as she came to dock, leaning over the rail with his face wreathed in smiles. Many were the greetings shouted at him and hearty were the greetings he tossed back as he picked out all his old friends and team mates among the hundreds of faces turned up towards him.

Barney had been on deck since one o'clock in the morning, peering over the beam to get the first sight of the slopes of Oahu. He couldn't sleep and he paced the deck anxiously during the last few hours of the voyage, asking everyone in sight, "Won't we ever get there?" Once ashore, however, and after a big calabash of poi, Barney was his old happy self. He has changed but little, a trifle more sophisticated, perhaps, but the same Barney who pitched the St. Louis nine to victory and earned the favor of the bleachers.

HERE TO PLAY BALL.

The All Stars are here to play ball. There will be no laying off on the part of anyone. The boys, in their gorgeous red, white and blue uniforms, were trying out on the diamond yesterday afternoon and their work, in spite of the fact that the ground heaved a little under their feet, was fast.

Watching them, with the look of a proud father in his face, stood Mique Fisher, Jess Woods on his right and dapper Jimmy Britt on his left. Britt is with them team but not of them, here, as he explained, simply on a trip of pleasure and exploration, having nothing else better to do than come along. That he did come makes the visit of the All Stars all the more interesting to the sports of Honolulu, some of whom know the clever lightweight personally and all of whom know him well by reputation.

"Well, what do you think of my boys?" asked Fisher. "Ain't they the candy, though? Say, watch Bliss wing 'em down. He's got the best arm in the world. Oh, boys, how do you like the grounds? Ain't this all right, eh?"

Some of the boys stopped long enough to express their appreciation of the diamond, then resumed their throwing around the bases.

"I want to tell you," resumed Fisher, sweeping his arm so as to include his entire aggregation, "that there's the finest lot of ball players in the country, not a bushier among 'em and I'll give a fifty to any one who can find a bushier in the bunch. I had the whole pick of the country and I got only ball players, every one of them, and every one a gentleman. I couldn't afford to bring any hoodlums along and you bet I didn't. I got a letter from Captain Dowell saying that these boys are the finest lot of young fellows that he ever traveled with and that the last trip of the Alameda was the jolliest run he had ever made between the Coast and Honolulu."

It was suggested to Mr. Fisher that the people of Honolulu had been looking forward to the coming of his players, being desirous of seeing good ball, but would be disappointed if at any stage of the game the visitors did not stretch themselves and play their best, no matter how the score went.

"Do you mean that perhaps my men will lay down? These boys lay down? Why, if I thought they would do anything like that I would tear up their return tickets. No, sir, we will beat you a hundred to one if we can. You don't suppose that we have come twenty-two hundred miles to do any joking? We further notify you that Mr. Wallach, with not over three members of this committee, will be ready at any time upon notice to leave for the Settlement when the physicians and superintendent of the Settlement get ready to select the twelve persons who are to be treated; it being our desire, as it must be yours, that the men selected for treatment shall be satisfactory to Mr. Wallach, as well as to yourself and the Board of Health; it being distinctly conceded by us that no one shall be selected who is not approved of by yourself or your representatives.

Yours truly,

(Not Signed.)

Governor Frear wrote from Sacramento to Acting Governor Mott-Smith. He stated that the trip to San Francisco was pleasant, and occupied by him mainly in preparing his speeches for the Trans-Mississippi Congress at Muskogee, Oklahoma.

How effective the Governor's speeches, thus prepared on the bounding billows, proved is shown by the following cablegram to the Chamber of Commerce president:

"Muskogee, Nov. 22.—Morgan, Honolulu.—Addressed Trans-Mississippi twice. Resolution adopted unanimously. Wood appointed Congressional committee. FREAR."

There were either two resolutions or two subjects in one resolution, containing the endorsement of the Congress to the proposal for the improvement of Pearl Harbor, both for commercial and naval purposes, also favoring a call at Honolulu of the Pacific battleship fleet.

As previously reported in the Advertiser, Secretary H. P. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce was notified by letter that the resolutions of that body had been docketed on the program of the Congress, with a place allotted to Governor Frear for addresses in support of the resolutions.

Mr. Wood, who has gone to Washington as special representative of the Chamber of Commerce, was also informed that he would be nominated as a member of the Congressional committee of the Congress, whose function is to urge its measures for adoption at Washington.

A PICTURESQUE SCOUNDREL.

A picturesque scoundrel was brought to book when Frank C. Marrin was convicted in Philadelphia of conspiracy in connection with the Storey Cotton Company swindle. He and his associates, one of whom is now serving a five-year sentence, through skillfully-worded "get-rich-quick" advertisements, induced thousands of people to entrust their savings to them, pretending that the money was placed in cotton margins. As a matter of fact, it went into the pockets of the swindlers, who "cleaned-up" about $2,000,000 from the credulous "investors," mostly poor people. Marrin was born in Brooklyn, and practiced law there until 1895. He says that he has been, at various periods of his career, a race-horse owner and gambler, a publisher of a daily newspaper, and a colonel in a Honduras revolution.

WHERE IS MICHAEL H. GANNON?

Editor Advertiser: My brother, Michael H. Gannon, arrived in Honolulu, H. I., in 1884. I have never heard from him since. I am almost sure he stayed there. He was 21 years old, was born in Boston, Mass., from which place he left for Honolulu. He must be about 44 years old now. I would be much obliged if you would publish it as news. Please answer this letter, and if you should publish please send me a copy.

Yours truly,

JOHN W. GANNON.

CHILDREN IN THE HOME.

Small children are always a source of anxiety to parents. Coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough attack the little ones and serious illness results almost before they are aware of it. One trial of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for these troubles will prove its efficiency and give it a place in the home ever after. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

No, sir. We will play ball from the drop of the hat and you can depend on it that when this team gets to playing ball you are going to see something.

"I am mighty glad to be in Honolulu, and I want to tell you that the coming here of this team has been a big advertisement for Hawaii. Every sporting paper in the country is printing something about Honolulu now and every one of the scores in these games will be handled by the Associated Press all over the continent.

"I would like very much to make the Hilo trip, but I am afraid not. Most of the boys want to be back home for Christmas. They have been playing a long season and then came right down here. I guess we will have to call the volcano trip off."

"DOC." FROST IS ALONG.

Accompanying the All Stars is one of the best known fans of San Francisco, "Doc." Frost, who has been at every ball game played in the Coast town for the past fifteen years. His specialty is chasing fouls and he has often won the applause of the grand stand by the graceful way he takes a grand stand roller with one hand. He always appears in uniform, the most striking part of which is the gorgeous red and gray checked stockings he sports. In accompanying the team to Honolulu he has come at his own expense, simply to see that no foul balls are lost. He knows all the fine points of the game to a nicety and talks ball in his sleep. He will be out in the glory of his full uniform at all the games here. In appearance he is not above middle age, but in reality he is well over sixty years old.
